Excerpt from Catalogue of an Entirely New Series of Photographs: Of Warwick, Uy s Cliffe, Kenilworth Castle, Leamington, Coventry, Toneleigh, Stratford-on-Avon, C A sweet English Village says Mrs. Mary Cowden Clarke, is this Stratford! Seated on the edge of a silvery river, green with turfy banks and woody slopes, picturesque with cottage houses and cottage gardens; crowned with a village church, ivy clad, surrounded by moss grown graves, approached by a lime tree avenue and its slender spire tapering towards heaven. The scenery of Stratford and its neighbourhood is not, strictly speaking, romantic, but here and there it is eminently beautiful and almost everywhere it is pleasant, not only in itself but also in its associations. Of the fine open valley on the left bank of the Avon it forms a central attraction. We look upon the river ?owing windingly through the fertile meadows of the dale, with singular complacency, and this is heightened into delight as the eye takes in the upland ranges, the tree-mottled heights and the pretty pastoral villages which engird it. Though now, for the most part,...
