Of all his sons, Or all the scions of the royal stock, Which is most worthy, which most capable, To wield the sceptre he so gloriously Has held for Egypt s honor, now becomes The problem we must solve; which as we solve Determines for the years to come the weal Or woe of Egypt. Say, most noble priest, Who st had the training of the princely boys, In which of all the royal neophytes, Shows most the spirit of the radiant God Whom we adore, the light and strength of Egypt? Seti: Tis well you ask that question; for the king Of Egypt should be he who most reveals The spirit of the God; above all he Who has displayed the mind most teachable. Second Lord: Perhaps you d have a priest upon the throne? Seti: Priests have not made...
